LETTER FROM JESSE BRUCE

Predicts Wilson Will Carry The Republican State of Oregon November 7th.

Enterprise, Ore., Oct. 16, 1916.
Crittenden Record-Press,
Marion, Ky.,

Dear Sir:-

I enclose $1.00 to pay for another year's subscription to the Record-Press, for of course I would not be without it. You will see by my letter head that I am still in the harness and saddle business in Enterprise. During the last six months business has been the best since I located here. The country is prosperous and developing steadily. New settlers are coming in and more sod is broken each year, and splendid crops of grain and hay are raised, and trainloads of cattle, hogs, sheep, and horses are shipped.

Prices are very good under the Democratic administration. I would not be surprised to see this county and State go for Wilson next month, although both are strongly Republican in registration. I know many Republicans who will vote for him. It would help if we could have Ollie James here to tell some of the wavering republicans what the administration has done for the country and show them that Wilson is the man to keep in the White House.

All well and doing well. Best love to all old Kentucky friends.
Yours very truly,
J. F. Bruce.

Hatifax is Darkened; Fears Zeppelin

Hatifax, N. S., Oct. 21.—Hats, except a few shaded on the west and north ends, have again been ordered turned in the streets of this city at night and all blinds must be drawn according to orders just sent out from military headquarters. Whether a visit from a trans-Atlantic Zeppelin or an attack from the sea by enemy war craft is feared is not known. "The lights will be turned out because the naval and military authorities feel that it is necessary," is the only statement made by headquarters.

A Story of Red-Heads.

The Glasgow (Ky.) Times tells this unique story of "Red-heads." "The two Claude boys were twins and red-headed at that, and they left Rowan county several years ago and went to Logan county, where they prospered and married red-headed twin sisters, the Misses Walls. They were married the same day. And to their happy union were born to each three red-headed children. They are now living in Shelby county on a $50,000 farm and raising red Short-tails."

Auction Sale.

At Marion, Ky., Sat. Oct. 28, I will sell a lot of shoes, Ladies and Children's cloaks, Ladies waists, hats and caps and a lot of Furniture and various other articles at Public Auction.

Come and get these bargains at your own price.

Scientific Proof Maxwell Fuel Economy

In a test made by David L. Gallup, M. E., Professor of Gas Engineering, Worcester Polytechnic Institute, a stock Maxwell Touring Car made from 23 to 33.7 miles per gallon of gasoline at speeds ranging from 10 to 35 miles per hour. We reproduce a letter from Professor Gallup concerning this test.

DAVID L. GALLUP, M. E.
Consulting Engineer

Maxwell Motor Co., Inc., Detroit, Michigan.

Gentlemen:-

I beg leave to submit the enclosed blue print giving the results of an economy test, made on a 1917 Stock Maxwell Touring Car, furnished by your Boston representatives.

The curve is self explanatory and needs no discussion other than the statement that the carburetor, which was stock, was adjusted to give the best combination of power, flexibility, speed, and economy, for such conditions of touring as would ordinarily be encountered.

In tabular form the results (taken from the curve sheet) are as follows:

SPEED (Miles per hour)	ECONOMY (Miles per gallon)
10	33.7
15	32.7
20	31.2
25	29.9
30	26.1
35	23.0

Respectfully submitted,

DLG/Z

D. L. Gallup

NOTE that no unusual means were employed to get these results. The car used was taken from stock; the test was made with a full load and with top and windshield up; the regular Maxwell carburetor was used.

Any Maxwell car is capable of giving this same economy in gasoline consumption.

Maxwell operating economy matches its economy in first cost, making it The World's Greatest Motor Car Value.

When a candidate will not speak for himself he must be judged by the company he keeps and no other candidate for President ever trained with such a motley crew as that which follows Mr. Hughes. No Administration could survive that was forced to depend upon reconciling such unreconcilable element.
Yet the support of all of them, from Wall Street to the German-American Alliance, from Penrose to William Allen White, would be necessary to Mr. Hughes if he were chosen to conduct the affairs of the United States Government.

In ordinary times a nation may occasionally risk experiments and trust to fortune, but these are not ordinary times. If the American people have a right to know anything about their public affairs, they have a right to know precisely what a candidate for President represents, precisely what his policies are, precisely what his programme of government is, and precisely what he intends to do. They have no information whatever of this kind from Mr. Hughes, and they can obtain no information. All efforts have failed. Mr. Hughes is deaf and dumb to all appeals.

The peace of the country today rests wholly in the hands of the President of the United States.
A single mistake, a single blunder a single ill-advised action, and he can plunge 100,000,000 people in to the midst of the most devastating war that mankind has ever known. There are no ascribable limits to calamities in which a tactless, and obstinate or an ill-informed President can involve the Nation.

To elect Mr. Hughes is to elect an enigma, a conundrum, a puzzle, a conjecture. So far as knowledge of his policies and purposes are concerned, the voters might as well blindfold themselves and make a President out of the first man they happen to slap on the back in a street crowd. They would be taking essentially the same chances that they are taking with Mr.
Hughes.

Mr. Hughes might make a good President after he had had two or three years experience in the office; but to train him now is like putting a green engineer in charge of the Twentieth Century Limited. The green engineer might wreck the train.

When they re-elect him, they are not gambling with destiny.
They know where he stands on every question of the campaign.

They know his record. They know that his Administration will move steadily ahead. They know that he represents American idealism in its truest form.
They know that he has kept the faith and that he is one of the greatest leaders that American democracy has raised up to the glory of the Republic.

Why Hughes? Nobody has answered that question and nobody can answer it except by appealing to passion, prejudice and partisanship.—New York World.

The Hughes Slump.

Has the Hughes campaign reached the beginning of the end? It would seem so.

Republican reports and Democratic reprisals agree that the winning is all toward President Wilson. The President grows stronger and stronger as public sentiment becomes more articulate. Mr. Hughes is weaker and weaker.

There is no mystery about the decline and prospective fall of the Hughes candidacy. It lacked the one element without which no candidacy has a right to succeed the one element of good faith. Mr. Hughes has not been sincere with the American people. He has not been honest with the American people. He has not been the Chas. E. Hughes whom they had idealized as a man who met every political issue and every political situation squarely without fear or hesitation.

Mr. Hughes began his campaign with a carefully prepared program of dodging and evasion.
In the midst of the greatest crisis known to modern civilization he determined to have no policies of his own, but to seek to consolidate all the money opposition to the President.

Instead of consolidating all the antagonistic elements that were opposed to the President, Mr. Hughes has awakened their suspicions as to his own intentions. They have come to see that he cannot be playing fair with any of them.

Now that there has been an opportunity for the sober second thought, the American people are balancing the books. On the one side is the definite record of President Wilson and his Administration. On the other side is nothing except conjecture, speculation, fault-finding and desec-

What Shall It Profit A Nation If It Gain The World Of Prosperity And Lose Its Soul.

The people who vigorously opposed preparedness, claiming that the ocean was our safety, had a rude awakening on Monday last when they learned that a German submarine, after calling at an American port, slipped out to sea and quickly sunk half a dozen steamers.

Instead of being a protecting barrier for us, the ocean has now become an enemy's greatest help to bring war directly to our shores without a moment's warning. Even the deluded followers of Bryan must now realize that a blind leader has been leading blind people, despite all warnings of those who had foreseen and foretold such conditions as we now face. Our commerce, our vast exports of manufactures of cotton and grain, which have been flooding the country with gold and bringing prosperity in its train, are all suddenly halted by a submarine, the presence of which was never even suspected until it arrived off Newport.
Suddenly a new phase of world conditions has arisen, and overnight all things have changed.
We can no longer boast of our splendid isolation. We must now realize that the very sea which we thought was our safety is our danger, for who can war, except at great odds, against the unseen terror which has the sharks for its companions and the Devil for its captain?

While in the Old World, history's bloodiest war still rages, the New World, peaceful, prosperous and prepared, rapidly approaches its great battle of battles on Tuesday November 7th, the day on which we are to answer the question, do we need a change? Kentucky Democracy is unitedly marching to a great triumph on that day. Every Kentucky patriot, whatever his political affiliation, will go to the polls that day and cast his vote for the reelection and endorsement of our Matchless President and those who uphold his hands.

I consider it a duty to do so. I consider it a privilege, to be eagerly exercised, an opportunity to show that I stand for faithful public service, and believe the best insurance against future bad government is a recognition and endorsement of faithful public service, already performed.

H. D. Wooldridge, of Salem, Livingston Co., passed through the city Tuesday enroute home from an extensive tour through the west. He says that Wilson has a slide already in the momentum in the west, and by Nov. 7th, will sweep everything before it. Mr. Wooldridge, a quiet gentleman not given to boasting, but he says he never saw anything like the Wilson enthusiasm in the west, and when he says anything you can just put it in your pipe and smoke it, for it's just that way.

Sen. James at Madisonville

Madisonville, Ky., Oct. 18.
Not since W. J. Bryan made his first appearance here has there been such a gathering of democratic forces as were here Tuesday afternoon to hear the speech of Senator Ollie M. James. Senator James spoke to an audience that packed the Garneck theater, the largest building in the city, from top to bottom and several hundred were unable to even get in hearing distance of the speaker.

In the course of a great speech said:

"The only thing they've got against Wilson is that he didn't hang crepe on the door of the millions of American homes.
They charge that he has written notes yes he has, and is there anybody that can beat him writing them? If some other rulers across the Atlantic had written notes like those written by Woodrow Wilson there would have been no European war. With his notes he has wrung from the most militant power that ever brooded over a battlefield absolute concessions in the matter of submarine warfare and made it conform to the demands of the United States.

"Behold whilst our president who loves mankind is busy grappleing with foreign matters to keep us out of war, there be those who shoot him in the back, old Washington praying victory at Valley Forge; believe me Lincoln as he prays that the of sections of the world called the cabinet together to consider the Lusitania affair he said to them:

"Gentlemen I don't know whether you believe in the efficacy of prayer or not, but I do, and he knelt there with those men in the office and asked God that the country might be spared from war, and that prayer was answered."

Senator James concluded his magnificent speech with this per-oration:

"Behold this nation is at peace millions of toilers and happy homes with the family circle unbroken. When all of the turmoil and tribulation of this earth over, and when we stand in the great white light of the judgment dawn, there will stand Woodrow Wilson with clear

Horses Not Yet Gone.

Not yet is the "passing" of the horse. It is said that by count there are 60,000 horses in the city of Detroit, and that the last 14 years in spite of autos and the 40,000 automobiles in the same city, the horses have increased from 12,000 to 60,000.
It is further estimated that 83 per cent of the road, transportation of our country is still done by horses.

Ripley's Railroad.

E. P. Ripley, one of the bitterest enemies against the Brotherhood's fight for the eight-hour law, who announced that his railroad would not obey the law, is president of the Santa Fe railroad.

Despite the fact that $2,500,000 is charged to loss due to storms, fire and floods in its territory, the Santa Fe railroad, in its official statement of expense for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1916, announces that the earnings of the road show an increase of $8,457,348 over the preceeding year. Mr. Ripley signs the statement.

EXPERIENCE OF KENTUCKY WOMAN.

Louisville, Ky.—"I have been much benefited by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. When in a run-down, nervous condition I saw 'Favorite Prescription' advertised in the paper. The use of one bottle gave me very marked improvement and I am glad to endorse it. It is a good medicine and seems to be just as advertised."—Mrs. LILLIAN ZWYBLOFF, 224 Bank St.

An affection confined to women must have its cause in the womanly nature. There is no doubt that a diseased condition of the delicate womanly organs, is in general responsible for feminine nervousness and an undermined constitution. The use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes women happy by making them healthy. There are no more crying spells. "Favorite Prescription" is for inflammation and female weakness. It makes weak women strong.

Middle-aged women about to experience that dreaded change of life, should profit by the experience of thousands of noble women who have gone through the same period with little or no pain, misery or discomfort.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is and has been for nearly 50 years just the medicine. It is not a secret prescription, for its ingredients are printed on the wrapper; it's a temperance medicine, a glyceric extract from roots.

Get the "Prescription" today—either in liquid or tablet form—if you want to better your physical condition speedily.

SUBMARINES NOT ALLOWED IN NORWEGIAN WATERS

Order Of The Government Is Signed By King Haakon.

Christiania, Norway, Oct. 24 —King Haakon has approved an ordinance forbidding submarines of belligerent powers from traversing Norwegian waters except in case of emergency, when they must remain upon the surface and fly the national flag. Any submarine violating the ordinance will according to its provisions, be attacked by armed forces.

Mercantile submarines are only to be allowed in Norwegian waters in a surface position in full daylight and flying the national colors. The ordinance takes effect on October 20.

Several thousand subscriptions are in arrears, no papers will be mailed if not paid for after this date. We are working on the list as fast as we can.

Fall From Chair Kills Baby.

Stirling, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Keith, of Crof-ter, was so badly injured by a fall from a chair Friday night that he died early Saturday morning. Mr. Keith has placed the little child in his high chair in the dining room and was about to leave for supper when he heard him fall. It is thought he had turned himself around in the chair and was standing up when he fell over.

He struck the floor on his head causing concussion of the brain, from which he died early Saturday morning. The little fellow was 15 months old and was an unusually active child, and his death is a severe blow to the parents and other relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Keith formerly lived in this city, and they have many friends here who deeply sympathize with them in their great sorrow. The funeral and burial took place at 11 o'clock Sunday

DADDY'S EVENING
FAIRY TALE
B. MARY GRAHAM BONNER

PINKY PIG'S SICKNESS.

"Little Pinky Pig was very sick," said Daddy, "and all because he had eaten too much."

"What do you think the trouble can be?" asked Pinky's Mother when Doctor Frog came to call.

"I shall have to find out," said Doctor Frog. He put the Spectacles he was carrying on his funny, flat nose and he looked at Pinky Pig.

"Your head is hot," he said. "You must have a fever. It's the first thing we're taught when we become Doctors. It's a fine thing, to know Hot heads mean Fever! Shut the little thing to learn and we've never forget it."

"But Doctor Frog," said
Pinky's Mother, who was very much worried, "I don't want to know what you have learned in order to be a Doctor. I want to know what you think is going to happen to Pinky.
Will he live or die? Does he need Medicine or can he go out and Play?"

"That's the way with Mothers, said Doctor Frog. "They are always wringling their hands or their faws or their feet and asking so many questions.
Well, in the first place he is not going to die," said Pinky's Mother looking very much happier. "But for the rest of your questions—I'll have to look at him more closely before I can answer them."

"Then Doctor Frog brought out his Medicine Chest, which was made of smooth wood and covered with moss.
Inside were little Stones filled with herbs of all sorts and sizes and colors, which Doctor Frog gave for Pills.
There were pieces of Lily pads with yellow powder from the centers of flowers. And in little bottles made of Acorns he had Balm and Water.

"His feet are so muddy I can hardly see what's the matter," said Doctor Frog.

"Nothing's the matter with his feet," said Pinky's Mother. "They're always muddy, like that—it's the way I've brought him up, to be a good, muddy-footed child."

"All this time Pinky was lying down, making a great deal of noise with his grunts and squeals of pain. "I'm so sick," he moaned.

"Well," said Doctor Frog, as he began to make powders from his Medicine Chest, "better take one of these every hour."

"What are they for?" asked Pinky's Mother.

"Never mind what they're for—they're good for everything—all Powders and Pills are, aren't they?"

"Nonsense!" grunted Pinky's Mother.

"Well, then, I suppose I must see what's the matter, when you're so very particular! Open your mouth, young Pig! Let me see your tongue. And your Throat?" As he asked to look at Pinky's Throat he got a stick from his Medicine Chest and held poor Pinky's Tongue down with it as he looked.

"There's nothing the matter with your Throat," said Doctor Frog. "It's your digestion. You have eaten too much—that's what you've done. You've been a PIG!"

"Well, and what else could he have been—the little love?" asked Pinky's Mother angrily. "He's a Pig and a very fine one, and he couldn't be anything else if he tried. How could he?
Answer me that?" And Pinky's Mother showed how angry she was by the way her pink eyes looked.

"It's true, Madame Pig," said Doctor Frog in a very superior way, "that your son could not be anything else but a Pig.
But he needn't have been quite so much of a Pig.
And if you don't know what I mean, you're very stupid—that's all."

"You're the stupid one," said Pinky's Mother.
"Whatever you mean by saying he could be a pig but not much of a one—or whatever that nonsense was you said! He will be a regular Pig.
I say, and I'll change Doctors—this very minute."

"Good-day," said Doctor Frog, as he picked up his Powder and put it in his Medicine Chest. "I'll give this Powder to my next Patient. All little Animals are Pigs at times. Good-by again, Madame Pig. I am sorry that I am too wise for you."

"Pinky's Mother grunted to herself in rage. Doctor Frog must be getting foolish in his old age," she thought.
"Animals were Pigs and as I understand Pinky could be partly human. Nature

under the auspices of the Kentucky Christian Bible School Association. One of the ablest group of leaders in the field of Bible Education has been selected as a faculty.

W. J. Clark, of Cincinnati, O., Adult Superintendent of the American Christian Missionary Society, will be the instructor in the Adult Division and administration. Miss Cynthia Pearl

Studies and a special Lecture.
Roy K. Dowdner, Associate State Superintendent, Kentucky Christian Bible School Assn., Dean of the school and will have charge of its promotion.

The good people of Mayfield will entertain for the five days in their homes, without cost, all representatives from churches in Western Kentucky and adjoining districts. There is a fine hospitable spirit and a most generous offer and aid for the good of the great Bible School cause in this section of the state.
Names for entertainment should be sent in advance to C. T. Canon, Mayfield, Ky. There will be no registration fee, making the only cost the railroad fare.

This school is designed primarily to train for greater efficiency all Bible School workers, including ministers, superintendents, other office and teachers.
There are many who can come on their own accord, and it is hoped that many will do so; but every church in Western Kentucky and nearby districts should be represented by one or more of its workers whose expenses will be defrayed by the church.

JANE ADDAMS DECLARIS
HER VOTE'S FOR WILSON

World Famous Social Worker And Central Figure at Moose Convention.

Chicago, Oct. 14. "I am going to vote for Wilson." That is the announcement to-day by Miss Jane Addams of Hull House, called by Theodore Roosevelt "America's greatest citizen."

The most widely known social worker in the world arrived in Chicago from a sick bed in Maine to cast her first presidential vote for Wilson. Miss Addams was the central woman figure in the first Progressive national convention in 1912. Her appearance on the platform in that memorable gathering caused a demonstration lasting half an hour and second only to the demonstration accorded to C. I. Roosevelt himself by his then fellow-Moose.

"I am too ill to prepare a formal statement," said Miss Addams to-day, "but to the direct question from friends I have answered that I intend to vote for Wilson. I am too ill to do any political work."

Thus to the long list of widely known women supporting President Wilson is added the name of Miss Addams. In this list are such names as Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, former Superintendent of Schools of Chicago; Mrs. Anoinette Funk, Miss Mary Mc-Dowell, director of the Chicago

Barnyard Spree Brings Sorrow's Cup to Town of Moultrie.

Moultrie, Ga., Oct. 24. Moultrie is outraged!

Heretofore considered one of the most self-respecting and law-abiding habitations of man, especially since the prohibition law went into effect, Moultrie must now hang her head in shame.
And all because of branded peaches, the consumption of this product, and the thoroughly natural result—a grand spree.

It all happened this way:
A prominent Moultrie matron happened to throw in her back yard a can of spoiled branded peaches. She immediately forgot all about it, but—

When she went back that evening to feed the chickens she found seven old hens outrageously drunk, three roosters roan and out, and a number of pullets and cockerels carrying on in a manner obnoxious to any well-raised fowl. The chickens had gotten in the fruit, and not a sober one was to be found in the chicken yard.

Bad Colds from Little Sneezes Grow

IS LIFE A FAILURE, DO YOU KNOW WHY?

The human stomach should only be thought of when it suggests the need of food. The alth of so important an organization should be so perfect that it may be entirely forgotten between meals.

But to millions of people, the stomach is a continuous course of mental as well as physic distress. Chronic stomach trouble presses upon the mind as well as the body. The mind grows dull and tired.

Especially is this true in cases of stomach trouble that effects the nerves. The woman who is always examining her tongue in the mirror, is a very pronounced type of nervous dyspeptic.

Looking at the tongue for defects of the stomach is the result of prolonged gastric disturbances: indigestion, sour stomach, bloating, heaviness, dullness, biliousness and indigestion, headaches all make sharp inroads on the nervous system.

Good strong nerves are easily defeated if they are weak and

The nervous dyspeptic shrinks from the easiest tasks of life, and is entirely unfit to grapple with the harder ones. He goes through life shackled to his imaginary fear, and failure in his deom.

"Why have I not succeeded as I would have like to?" thus asks of man and women ask themselves every day. The reason is their health and energy has been far below par.

Has your stomach been a failure or a success? The stomach is one of the deep secrets of a human success.

adapted to the needs of the

HUGE ARMADA SAILS

British Warships Pick Up And Convoy Loaded. Liers.

New York, Oct. 21. —Headed by the 21,000-ton White Star liner Adriatic, with a $7,000,000 cargo and 336 passengers, a flotilla of nine British mer hantmen with munitions of war shipped about to sea last night. The vessels had remained at anchor all afternoon within the three-mile limit off Sandy Hook.

As soon as darkness shut out the shore line the propellers of the Adriatic commenced to turn, and she crept away on her voyage to Liverpool, the richest prize on the seven seas today.

A squadron of British cruisers summoned by wireless from the West Indies, Bermuda, the Bahamas and Halifax by Admiral Montague Browning met her.
They will act as an escort for the big liner and the eight freighters that follow in her wake through the danger zone in which Admiral Browning thinks the U-53 and her companions may still be waiting.

When the Adriatic passed the Narrows the Cunard steamer Panonia, which has been waiting since Sunday with her cargo of explosives in Gravesend Bay, last night of the big liner.

Later in the afternoon the British steamer East Gate, Tipon, Teftwood and Strathroy all under chart to the French line and loaded to capacity with war munitions, left in an organized and joined the Adriatic and Panonia off the Hook. The last two of the flat ll, the freighter Aragorreck and the Atlantic transport steamer Minnehaha, with 1,400 tons of munitions on board, passed through the Narrows at 5 o'clock yesterday.

$40,000,000 Paid For Horses Since War Began

East St. Louis, Oct. 24.—Approximately 25,000 war horses have been sold since the war began. The total sum paid for the horses is about $40,000,000.
About 7,000 mules have been sold for a total of $955,000. The Italian Government has recently made a contract for 3,000 horses to be killed in thirty days. British French and Belgian buyers and agents for the United States army are taking a total of 2,000 horses a week. Isn't it better to sell our horses to those fighting nations than to keep them here to fight with ourselves?

ES OF FIELD KITCHEN

Ranked as Noncombatants, Men Who Feed the Soldiers Are Constantly Facing Death.

Often, when the death struggle is at its height and a condition approximately chaos exists in the immediate rear of the battling armies, the fighting man's waste of energy and strength is repaired through the medium of that unique vehicle, the field kitchen. No one who has not campaigned with troops enjoying the comforts of the field kitchen can appreciate how much it makes for gustatory satisfaction, and how it promotes that elusive and highly important fighting factor—morale.

One winter's night in Poland, after spending the day watching wave upon wave of gray-coated soldiers roll up and break against the Russian trenches and entanglements, I was making my way back to a field hospital where I was a guest when my eyes caught the twinkle of a long row of lights that wavered above the road. The lights were moving slowly but steadily toward the battle front. Soon the grating and rattle of the iron boilers sounded clear in the frosty air, helping me to recognize a train of field kitchens lumping along the frozen road. The brazier chimneys throbbed and I whiffed a fragrance of potteries and boiling meat.

I knew from personal observation that the enemy were deluging a particular line of that road with six-inch and three-inch shells. At that very moment one could see them exploding in groups of four. On went the field kitchens, each with a driver muffled up to the eyes against the Russian cold, lumbering into the danger zone, into the valley of death that train of field kitchens was most certainly riding. Cannons to left of them and cannons to right of them most assuredly thundered. All the rest of Tennyson's lyric eulogium might apply to the pun-dering drivers.

I watched in admiration as the kitchens rolled onward, speculating upon the thoughts of men who thus went into battle. Such men were classed as noncombatants. Their function was to feed the fighters—essentially a non-inspiring role. There was none of the glory of battle; yet the character of their courage stood the severest tests.
What the presence of these kitchens meant to the battle-beaten battalions cannot be measured in words. I am tempted to say that the resistance of a present-day fighting army is in direct proportion to the efficiency of its field-kitchen train.—Greenville Fortescue in Saturday Evening Post.

Motorman a Modern Atlas.

Got any old thing you want lifted?
A piano, gas range, front stoop, wood-shed, bureau or mortgage, or a relative who's overstaying his leave, or anything like that? If you have, just write to Frank Green, motorman at the car barns, and he'll not only lift them, but toss them any place you say. The other day he lifted a horse weighing 1,250 pounds, about 20 feet in the air.
Frank, who weighs only 135 pounds, did the lifting with the assistance of a derrick. He pinned a canvas belt around the astonished horse, connected with a belt that circled his own waist, and then stepping into a frame rigged up for the occasion and connected with the derrick, gave the signal for the derrick men to haul away, the horse's dead weight being suspended from the motorman's waist. "Did you do it on a bet?" Green was asked.
"Nix. I did it just for fun. I like to lift heavy things. Little things like wagons and motor cars blocking the tracks don't bother me. I just toss 'em to one side."—New York Letter to the Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Education in South China.

Literacy among the people of South China is considerably greater than among those of the North. China is advanced in Canton that nearly all the children of Cantonese parentage, except those of the large local population, receive sufficient schooling to enable them to learn to read, whereas in the North of China it is unusual to find in family the children of which are all placed in school. The native newspaper is read by a considerably larger number than the list of subscribers to that paper would make it appear. In and about Shanghai papers are sold two and three times over. Collectors go about gathering up the newspapers of the previous day's issue, redistributing them among the lower class of population. It is said that they are then further distributed by being sent out to the villages and country sections, where they are sold for a fraction of a cent apiece.

Steps to the Mile.

How many steps do you take to the mile? Should you be a British infantryman your pace will be the longest of any infantryman in the world.
The Russians' pace is the shortest, being 27 1/4 inches, the French, Italian and Austrian paces are 29 inches, the Germans do 31 inches, whilst the English stride an extra half inch.
But your own pace, what of it? It depends upon your height. Take your eyebrow height, halve it, and that represents your pace. You will find it to be somewhere between 30 inches and 32 inches, so that you will need between 2,000 and 2,100 paces to the mile.

Its Style.

"This is certainly a fine clubhouse.
But its ventilation is bad. By the way, what is this room to be used for?"
"It is a club," but judging by the temperature, it

STYLES IN CAPES

PEASANT DESIGN MAY BE SAID TO HAVE PREFERENCE.

In All Sorts of Materials It Has Proved Popular, and Undoubtedly Has Come to Stay—Cape for Motoring.

The Victorian capes which were worn in last February with 1840 and 1870 hats to match, did not succeed, but the Victorian shoulder-—that wide piece of fur which today is a position collar slipped to the top of the arms, has been entirely successful.

But the present cape has outdone all others. It may be short or long, of tulle and ermine, or of black satin faced with blue, with a hood that stretches across the shoulders built of the two pieces.

Whenever possible, the dressmakers use a contrasting color as a lining, even if the outer material is unsubstantial as tulle.

A gathered cape of gray chiffon is lined with horizon blue—for the horizon is blue in France, although it is, as a rule, gray in America.

Iridescent taffeta, lined with tulle or chiffon, is used for afternoon capes in resorts, at the cashes, country clubs and polo fields.

For motoring, there is the Italian cape of dark blue cloth lined with the red of our flag in tulle or satin.
There are also natural Red Riding Hood capes worn by the younger set, the pointed hoods hanging between the shoulder blades.

Tripping around through the resorts, one is convinced that the cape has forged its way to a position above the coat. True, the motorcoat is still desirable and no one neglects it, but the cape is the fashionable garment. The original device that she is worked out in it gives it a wide appeal to the restless woman who insists upon new things, even though she has no old ones.

In the evening, to wear with white satin gowns, there are wraps of red chiffon lined with blue chiffon, with hood capes almost covered with bands of white marabou. At dinner parties in the open, the women keep these

Open-Air Dinner Cape.

capas on during the evening, and they make a very attractive setting for a low gown and a bare head.

By the way, the continued talk of the revival of first empire styles is actually changing the collar before there is a strong evidence of the Josephine frock itself. The hair is worn high in the middle of the head, and often there is no formed knot, simply a bunch of small, loose curls held at the base by two ornamental combs, preferably jet.

paper Syndicate.)

FADS AND FASHIONS

A pretty blouse is of handkerchief linen in white dotted with delicate color.

Blouses of contrasting color are now favored for dressy tailored suits of silk.

While georgette crepe, heavily embrodered in color, is delightful for blouses.

The transparent hat with under-brim trimming is the latest fancy of millinery.

A cabinet to keep card recipes in is a great convenience for a young housekeeper.

Witchhazel and rose water, half and half, is good for wind-tortured complexions.

If going on a picnic or long automobile trip, fold a hungalow apron over the lunch basket. It will then be handy to put on when you spread the lunch.

A teaspoonful of vinegar put into homemade candy keeps it from being sickly sweet.

Long Capes

Trimming for the long capes of taffeta is delightfully varied. One rose pink cape seen recently had a collar and cape edged with a narrow roll of ostrich, of rose color, with occasional fronds of white. An emerald green silk cape had a second waist depth cape. This was trimmed along the lower edge with three spaced rushes of the green silk, the edges finished with a picot. The collar was a large ruche. The cape hem was simply a facing fold of the silk, with a piping on the upper edge.

Not having seen any items from Grimes, Saturday and Sunday. Miss Mary Lou Barne, our "hello girl," visited her aunt, Mrs. Marie Phillips, Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Katherine Whitecotton and her guest, Miss Lula Brooks, of Sturgis, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Whitecotton.

Mrs. Will Blue returned Saturday from a visit to her daughter, Mrs. Lillie Hughes, of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Anthony Threlkeld, of Hamer, visited his niece, Mrs. John, Saturday evening, October 21st. Everybody invited.

The following verses were written by the host of the Builders' Club on the picnic supper given by the Club:

One Tuesday evening, the 12th of September, A day, I think I shall always remember:
The rippling waters, and sun's glowing light Made the Ohio River a beautiful sight.
To Hurricane Island, the "Builders' Club" went,
And Oh, what a joyful evening we spent!
The well filled table was a most welcome sight,
As we all marched up to eat as a bite.
We had sandwiches, nikkies, pies and cake, Biscuits, crackers, fried chicken and steak;
Such yelling, and laughing, a grand hubbub Was made over the feast of the "Builders' Club".
Every bite was good, from the first to the last,
We finished on melons, my Glorious roast;
That Old Island had never seen such hearty eaters And never had we seen such long billed Mosquitoes.
When the meal was finished, we prepared to depart, So we packed our belongings, and all made a start.
And now we are back on the mainland shore,
But we want to go back, o'er the season is o'er.
And now, in conclusion, I'm pleased to suggest, That we all work together, and do our best To make the "Builders' Club" a lamp so bright, That people in Darkness, may see our Light.

MARION WINS THE GAME

"Coach Byars And Twelve Big Men Marched Up From Sturgis And Back Again."

Marion opened the football season here Friday by defeating the heavy Sturgis team by the score 6 to 0. The game was in doubt until the middle of the last quarter when a short forward pass, Conyer to Oliver, from Sturgis, twenty yard line decided the contest. Incidentally we might state that this is the first football game that a Marion team has won since Adam romped across the football field in the garden of Paradise.

The game was fiercely contested, the ball being in mid-air most of the time. At only one time did Sturgis threaten to score and then Hamilton punt it out of danger. Fumbles were frequent on both sides on account of the severely edd wind that swept across the field.

Much credit is due the Marion line for their excellent work throughout the game. Although they were out weighed about twenty pounds to the man they presented a stonewall defense and battered down their opponents. There were several individual stars but Marion's excellent teamwork won the game.

With one victory already swung to their belts the team will journey over to Sturgis next Friday and play the big fellows on their own home ground. Coach Moore is confident of another victory and predicts a bigger score.

The lineup for Marion team: Hard Right End.
Boucher Right Tackle.
G. Phillips, D. Phillips Guard.
Summerville Center.
McNeely Left Guard.
Boaz Left Tackle.
Oliver Left End.
Conyer Quarter.
Frazer Right Half.
Hamilton Left Half.
Lynch Fullback.

SOLDIERS GOT RELIEF FROM SORENESS

Boys on The Border Relieved Their Pains and Aches with Sloan's Liniment.

Once upon a time Norman Jones, serving in the National Guard at El Paso, returned to camp after a strenuous 15 mile hike foot sore and weary. It had not been long in active service and his shoulders, back and limbs felt the after effects of marching.

Remembering Sloan's Liniment, Jones applied it to the sore spots and went to bed. The next morning feeling fine, in fact he had entirely forgotten about the hike and went out for a four-hour drill in the sun as easy as ever.

Private Jones passed the experience along, and many a boy on the border relieved the agony of sprains, strains, bruises, insect bites, cramped muscles, rheumatic twinges, etc., by the use of Sloan's Liniment.

Easily applied without rubbing. At all druggists, 25c., 50c. and $1.00.

Notice to Parents, Teachers And Scholars.

The Marion Electric Light & Ice Co. has its plant between the hours of two and five o'clock on Saturday for the benefit of our little friends from the county, who desire to see the current to make lights in their homes. During these hours children accompanying their parents or adults, old enough to take them out of danger and who are responsible for them, are allowed in the plant.

Whenever You Need a General Tonic

Take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The Old Standard Tonic is equally valuable as a General Tonic because it contains the well-known tonic properties of Quinine and Iron. It acts on the Liver, Blood, and Stomach, enriches the Blood, and builds up the Whole System. 50 cents.

Notice to Parents, Teachers And Children.

Many of our readers have never seen a paper being printed. Probably, very few of the children know how the "wheels go round" to make the Crittenden Record Press which is read by 10,000 people each week, and in order that those who wish to may see the machinery in operation, on next Saturday afternoon between the hours of two and five o'clock the big cylinder press, job press, folder, perforator, paper enter and other machinery will be in operation. Visitors are requested to go down the front stairs between Dr. Shue's office and McConnell's Wiggins' larder shop and to pass out the rear stairs to prevent crowding. Children should be accompanied by their parents or some person responsible for them and to take care of them.
